

Entando is an application composition platform for building enterprise web apps on Kubernetes.

We help enterprises maximize the potential of their Kubernetes stack by integrating trusted open source technologies and extending their functionality to provide a cohesive and streamlined developer experience with easy-to-use patterns that increase productivity.

www.entando.com

|

pr@entando.com

|

www.github.com/entando

|

@entando